Let me show you the secrets, that will have your family and friends thinking you won the lottery and did not tell them...

From the desk of Ayshe Kadir, US Property Expert.

Dear Struggling Property Investor,

Do you have trouble understanding the American property market?

Are you bewildered with the strange terms they use?

Maybe you've been misled by so-called property guru's, who raise your hopes at seminars, grab your money, give you a book and then disappear.

If that is your experience of trying to invest in US property then be prepared to be blown away by my hold your hand, sit you in front of a computer with me by your side and let's do this together system.

Hi, my name is Ayshe Kadir, and you're probably wondering why you should listen to a thing I have to say about investing in property and especially in the United States of America.

I needed cash, my simple story ...

In March of 1985, I started my very first business, this was an IT Training company based in Park Lane, London. This business went so well, I was advised to spend the substantial profits we were making or we would be liable for a hefty tax bill, it was then I started investing in property and absolutely loved it, but this was only in the UK at that time.

I added another string to my bow by expanding the business with a recruitment company, based in Holborn, London.

So now I had 3 income streams, my IT, recruitment, and property businesses, I was the queen of all I surveyed and I felt great. It was then that the 90's recession hit and within months all my income streams reduced drastically. I had to close down my training and recruitment centres.

I restructured the business so that training would only be carried out on client's premises. What this showed me was that I needed to acquire an income stream that was recession proof.

But what could be recession proof?

Doesn't a recession hit every sector of the economy?

It was in April 2001 that I decided to venture into the USA Real Estate market, forced by the stories suggesting that by my retirement there may well not be a pension for me to draw upon, I needed to secure my own financial future.

In the US I discovered different ways of making money, ways which indeed offered me the recession-proof solution I was looking for.

I discovered Tax Liens, Tax Deeds, Pre-foreclosure and Foreclosure properties, all new and exciting things that literally had me standing open-mouthed with the possibilities.

Tax Liens, Tax Deeds and Pre-Foreclosures – what does that mean?
